wanis Club
Met Thursday

R. (Mike) Snavely, DePauw club coach, was inducted into the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon Thursday. Mr. Snavely, introduced by Harold T. R., assistant comptroller of university.

Frank Wallace, state entomologist, showed the club members a series of slides of the Shadyside and state parks. In addition to the beauty of the scenes, the commentaries by Mr. Wallace were greatly appreciated by the group.

contributions to the "Save the Shadyside" campaign are being solicited from all persons who are interested in preserving that city spot for the enjoyment of citizens of the state. Such contributions may be mailed to State Department of Conservation in Indianapolis. It is not probable that a door-to-door campaign will be conducted, and so persons who wish to contribute will do so without waiting for solicitation.

DRIVER KILLED IN CAR-TRUCK MISHAP

A truck, carrying a load of steel and driven by Lee Flanagan, of Greencastle, was involved in a fatal accident on road 35 near the Ohio-Indiana line Wednesday. A dispatch from Richmond says Rudolph Paper, 32, who resided near Richmond, was injured fatally when his automobile rammed into the rear of the truck. Sheriff Carl Sperling investigated the accident.

Mr. Flanagan, who lives on Locust street, drives for a Terre Haute concern.

Suicide Attempt
Fails At Jail

An attempted suicide at the Putnam county jail by a state penal farm escapee failed Thursday when Sheriff Ed Maddox went to the juvenile cell block.

The sheriff quit Ray L. Sanders, 17, hanging from a crossbar in the cell door, suspended by his belt. The youth's tongue was hanging out and he was dead white when Maddox put in his appearance. The youth, who was sent to the farm from Marion county, had been sentenced to the state reformatory for 1 to 5 years by Judge John H. Allee in the Putnam circuit court only a short time before the suicide attempt.

Sheriff Maddox got the young man down and eventually put him with the other prisoners in the jail. Had the sheriff been five minutes later in going to the cell it would have been too bad for Sanders.

Morrison Gets Scholarship

Kernit Morrison, DePauw University sophomore from Springfield, Vt., has been awarded the Bishop Robert Roberts Scholarship at DePauw, made available by the Roberts Park Methodist Church of Indianapolis, according to President Clyde E. Wildman.

Provisions for such a scholarship were announced last June when the congregation of the Roberts Park church made a pilgrimage to the DePauw campus to visit the grave of Bishop Roberts, who with his wife is buried on the campus.

Bishop Roberts, honored as one of the founders of DePauw, then called Indiana Asbury University, presided at the Conference of the church between 1834-36 when the group brought the institution into being. He was buried on the campus in 1844 and his tomb is the oldest marker on the campus.

A number of individuals donated the funds for the $350 scholarship, which was presented to DePauw by Dr. Sumner L. Martin, former pastor of the Roberts Park church and now superintendent of the Indianapolis district of the Methodist Church. It was to go to a candidate for the ministry whose hown initiative, personality, promise of leadership and need.

WOUNDS EX-HUSBAND;
THEN SHOTS SELF

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 14.—(UP)—A 24-year-old blonde, described by doctors as five-months pregnant, shot her former husband in the back last night and then killed herself on the steps of a tavern.

Police Chief Harmon Harley said the shooting followed an argument between Russell Thomas, 30, and his divorced wife, Irene, who accused him of being the father of the baby. The couple was divorced last March.

Thomas was in "favorable condition" at a hospital after the bullet was removed from his back today.

Harley said he had learned that the couple had been dating each other since their divorce. States Attorney John J. Breesey, 21, quoted Mrs. Thomas as saying "I am going to kill him tonight," a short time before the shooting.

NO CHEST DRIVE IS NECESSARY IN
PUTNAM COUNTYTREASURY HAS ENOUGH
FUNDS TO MEET ALL
DEMANDS

No Community Chest drive will be held in Putnam county this year. This decision was made by the Board of Directors of the Putnam County Community Chest, Inc., at its fall meeting, after it was found that there were enough funds in the treasury to meet the requirements of the agencies participating in the fund.

The agencies to which funds were allotted are: The Legion posts for gifts for Yanks, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Hi-Y and Cancer Control. These are the only agencies that have asked for funds this year. The Red Cross and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will conduct their own campaigns for funds, as it is against their policy nationally to participate in Community Fund drives.

Steals Tractor;
Lands In Jail

Donald Tharp, of Greencastle, was lodged in the Putnam county jail by state police Thursday afternoon, charged with stealing a farm tractor near Eminence belonging to Mr. Abbott.

It was said that Tharp drove the tractor through Stillville and then abandoned it a few miles north. He was apprehended on foot near Fillmore by the officers and brought to Greencastle.

U. S. Aid Warning
By Sen. Byrd

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(UP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., said today the United States must face the "danger" that aid to Europe might boomerang to Russia's benefit.

Byrd, a leader of the congressional economy bloc, said Communists may yet gain domination over the very western European nations which this country seeks to aid under the Marshall Plan. In this event, he said, American resources and financial aid for industrial reconstruction would be turned "squarely against our own interests."

Byrd said he would support the administration's $597,000,000 fuel and famine emergency program for France, Italy and Austria. On the Marshall Plan, however, Byrd said he still retained an open mind.

Meanwhile, the administration's plan to ask Congress for $2,647,000,000 during this fiscal year for expenditures in Europe and the Far East faced its first major congressional test at a meeting of the powerful Senate Republican policy committee.

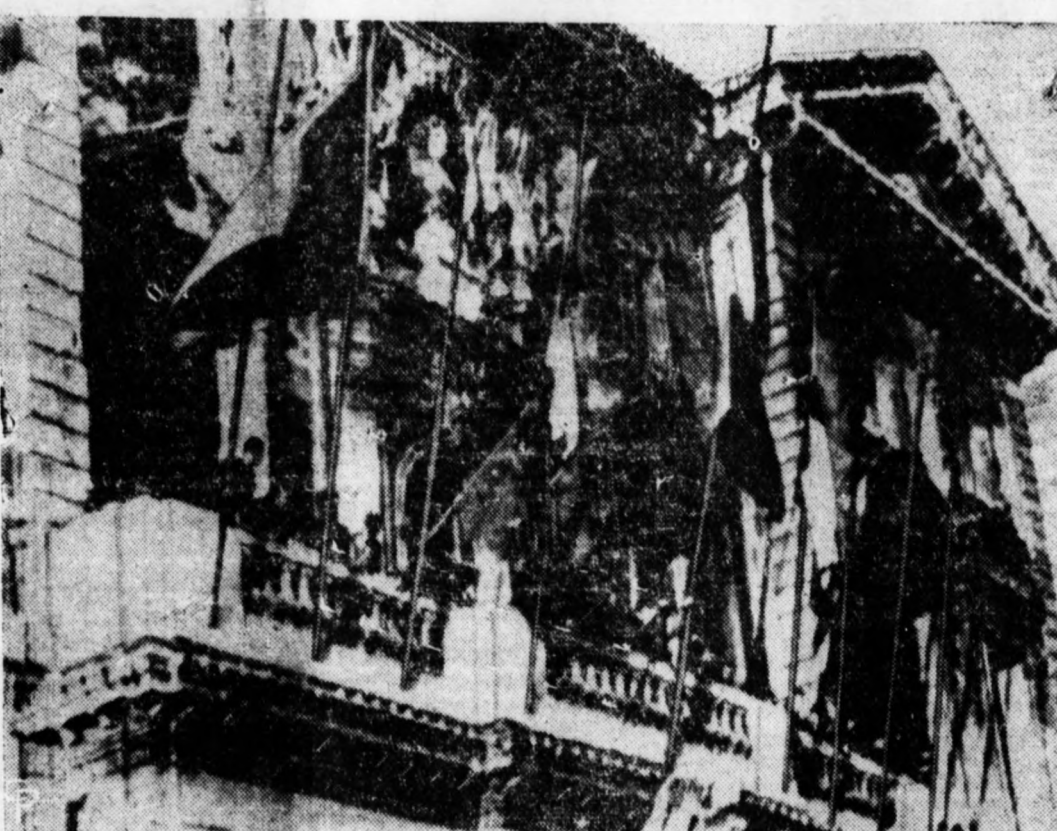

Chairman Robert A. Taft planned to tell the group the grounds on which he "definitely opposed" such a spending total. Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., who also heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was expected to challenge Taft's views behind the closed doors of the policy committee meeting.

Former Fascist
General Slain

ROME, Nov. 14.—(UP)—Assassins killed Ferruccio Gatti, a former Fascist general, in Turin today and Palmiro Togliatti, boss of Italy's Communists, warned cryptically that "Democratic revolutions are always possible."

The flood of Communist lawlessness had touched more than 100 places in Italy, including 11 cities or large towns. In nine days of violence, seven persons had been killed. An estimated 300 headquarters of parties that the Communists considered "Fascist" and rightist newspaper offices have been sacked by mobs.

REDS WAVE BANNERS FROM MARSEILLE CITY HALL

BEFORE POLICE RESERVES THREW THEM OUT, communist-led mobs wave red banners from the city hall in Marseille, France, after severely beating Mayor Jacques Carlini and eight city councilmen, followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle. Former Communist Mayor Jean Cristofol led the rioters, who dispersed following police action only to continue demonstrations in city. (International Radiophoto)

Cubs Open Net
Season Tonight

The Tiger Cubs of Greencastle high school open the basketball season tonight at Terre Haute where they will battle the State High quintet. It will also mark the debut of Tom Goldsberry as coach of the local net tossers.

Scores of fans are planning on making the trip to Terre Haute to see the game. Special bus accommodations have been provided for students.

Goldsberry is no stranger to Terre Haute people as his Ellettsville team last spring almost eliminated the strong Garfield squad in regional play. Garfield went on to the runnerup position in the state final battle, bowing only to the championship Shelbyville aggregation.

Partisan Fight
On High Prices

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(UP)—The congressional fight over high prices was off to a partisan start today while Republicans waited somewhat skeptically for President Truman's recommendations for cutting the cost of living.

The partisan split was carried to a meeting of Sen. Robert A. Taft's joint Congressional Economic Committee, which probably will play an important part in what the Republican-controlled Congress does about Mr. Truman's price program.

A subcommittee of that group submitted a report which, among its conclusions, asserted that:

"The current unprecedented outpour of exports resulting from the administration's foreign program is responsible for high prices in agriculture and has a general inflationary effect."

That subcommittee was headed by Rep. George H. Bender, R., O., another, headed by Sen. Ralph E. Flanders, R., Vt., submitted a report not made public immediately, which carried the support of both Republican and Democratic members.

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D., Ala., denounced the Bender report and said "the Republican members had consulted neither him nor Rep. Walter E. Huber, R., O., the minority members of the subcommittee."

"This purported report is shot full of partisanship with which I not only do not concur but from which I vigorously dissent," Sparkman told a reporter.

"It is unfairly partisan. It is isolationist in that it is in opposition to the Marshall Plan and to our military policy abroad."

Besides Bender, the report was approved by Sen. James P. Kem, R., Mo., and Rep. Henry O. Talle, R., Ia.

MORE CONGRESSMEN
DEMANDING PROBES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(UP)—More and more congressmen today demanded investigation of wartime "free riders," the shrewd operators in and out of government who grossed an estimated $450,000,000 in sure thing government bonds sales.

And a member of the Senate Banking Committee, John J. Sparkman, D., Ala., suggested that "perhaps there should be a law" to prevent such speculation in the future.

Congressional interest in war bond speculators was aroused by disclosure this week that retired Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers bought $4,000,000 worth of government securities on margin at a time when he was a key figure in air force procurement.

Co-ops Defended
By M. J. Briggs

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 14.—(UP)—Competitors of farm co-operatives are "out to destroy the co-ops" through "vicious name-calling" and "outright misrepresentation," Manager M. J. Briggs of the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association charged today.

Briggs recently returned from Washington after testifying on behalf of the co-ops at a hearing of the House Ways and Means Committee on the question of whether co-ops should remain exempt from payment of federal income tax.

MacArthur Boom
Starts Tomorrow

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 14.—(UP)—A national campaign for the nomination of Gen. Douglas MacArthur for Republican presidential candidate will begin here tomorrow, although MacArthur has not stated publicly whether he would like to run.

Lansing Hoyt, lifelong friend of MacArthur and his leading supporter, said representatives of at least 10 states will set up a national MacArthur for presidential organization at the meeting. Hoyt, chairman of the Wisconsin MacArthur club, said he did not expect to have "any startling statement or declaration" to make during the conference.

"This is only an organization meeting to name a national chairman and state chairmen to carry on the campaign."

Hoyt said that MacArthur, who is in Japan, commanding occupation troops, "could announce his candidacy" before Christmas. Hoyt has maintained for some time that MacArthur would accept the nomination if it were offered to him. He also has predicted the general will return to the U. S. before the Republican convention in Philadelphia next year.

The 10 states to be represented tomorrow are Wisconsin, California, Ohio, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Nebraska, New York, Illinois and Washington.

Gov. Warren Is
GOP Candidate

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 14.—(UP)—The far west today presented its candidate for the Republican nomination for president of the United States—56-year-old Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Warren announced his candidacy yesterday after meeting with the chairman and vice-chairman of the California Republican committee. They brought him a resolution urging him to seek the support of California delegates to the GOP convention and to allow his name to be placed in nomination.

"No greater honor could come to a governor of California, Warren said in a prepared statement, "and for the confidence thus expressed, I am humbly grateful."

"In response to the resolution, I can only say that if such a delegation is formed, and it receives the approval of the people of our state, I shall be proud to have it present my name to the convention for this purpose. I will not, however, seek delegates in other states."

Warren stated flatly that he was not interested in the vice-presidential nomination. He turned down such an offer in the 1944 Republican national convention.

The unions involved are the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(INS)—The joint congressional Economic Committee split today on a proposed return to rationing as a defense against inflation.

The Flanders subcommittee, which held hearings in the eastern United States recommended that Congress consider a "limited" rationing program to apply to key foods.

The Bender subcommittee, which made a survey in the west, came out flatly against rationing, or price or wage controls.

The entire Soviet bloc of six states refused to participate in the vote.

HIGH BRITISH
OFFICER QUILTS
AFTER BLUNDERCHANCELLOR OF EXCHEQUER
TOLD ABOUT CRISIS
BUDGET

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(UP)—Winston Churchill and other leaders of the opposition demanded today an investigation of Hugh Dalton's unprecedented resignation as chancellor of the exchequer for telling a newspaper reporter about his crisis budget before he told the House of Commons.

Churchill, Conservative party leader, indicated that he did not believe that Dalton's violation of the rigid cabinet code was the whole reason for his resignation. The Daily Express hinted that it was an engineered deal, connected with a cabinet conflict over crisis policy, although it said there was no reason to doubt Dalton's integrity.

The announced facts of the case were: Dalton told a correspondent of the newspaper, The Star, the main points of his supplementary budget imposing a new $832,000,000 tax program just before he read his budget message to Commons on Wednesday.

The Star was thus able to get the points of the new budget into print before its competitors, which presumably would have allowed alert speculators to make some money. Churchill wrote Dalton, however, that he was sure "there could not have been any dealings as a result of this premature disclosure."

Dalton told Commons what he had done late yesterday and added: "I appreciate that it was a grave indiscretion on my part, for which I offer deep apologies to the House." Then he submitted his resignation.

He was succeeded as chancellor of the exchequer by Sir Stafford Cripps. As minister of economics, Cripps' control of the nation's economic life had been nearly complete. His accession to Dalton's job made it complete.

The ordinary Briton feared more bad news about the living standard, now that Cripps had more power. He is regarded as the voice of austerity. He and his wife are vegetarians, so they are not greatly concerned whether the meat ration is up or down.

Financiers anticipated drastic and early action on Cripps' part for more taxes to mop up surplus spending power. It was believed that Cripps was at least partly responsible for forcing Dalton to include the new taxes in his budget.

Betting War In Four Months

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(UP)—Rep. Everett M. Dirksen, R., Ill., said today the "betting abroad" is that the United States and Russia will be at war in four months.

Dirksen is chairman of a special joint armed services appropriations committee which surveyed conditions in Europe. He returned to the capital today. The European views on the imminence of war as reported by Dirksen contrasted sharply with the opinion of key U. S. military leaders.

Fight Brewing Over Timberland

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (UP)—A fight was brewing between the Department of Agriculture and two groups of Alaskan Indians today over $20,000,000 worth of timber in the Tongass National forest.

To protect the forest service's legal right to control lumbering in national forests, Agriculture Department spokesmen said they would take whatever steps were necessary to keep the Kake and Kasaan Indians from fulfilling $20,000,000 lumber contracts with a New York firm.

To defend what they regard as tribal rights to the lumber, the Kake and Kasaan Indians served notice that they were set to use "all means that white citizens might use in similar circumstances."

This statement occurred in an announcement of the contract from the National Congress of American Indians, but was not elaborated. Forest service spokesmen said they themselves were thinking in terms of legal action. Before taking their case to court, however, service officials say they want more information about the Timber Development Corp., the New York firm with which the Indian Congress said the villagers contracted. Information in Washington on the firm was scant. New York financial sources said it was not immediately traceable.

BRICK CHAPEL METHODIST CHURCH

A. Lewis Meredith, Minister. If Sunday school is for the young, there must be enough adults present to care for them adequately. Christian living means responsibility. The pastor or the superintendent can not do it all. There must be cooperation. The church that would have one hundred per cent of benefit from the pastor must give one hundred per cent of cooperation. Come next Sunday and hear the pastor discuss The Talents. Be fair with the Lord, with your church, with your pastor.

We are planning a revival this year. Last year we had handicaps. Let us pray for success this church year. It will repay.

Pointers On Drain Tile

Drain tile made from concrete or concrete will give satisfactory service if properly installed, says G. A. Karstens, agricultural engineer at the University, in giving suggestions to Hoosier farmers who plan to install farm drain tile this fall and early winter.

Drain tile should be uniform in shape, have strength, cracks, or foreign matter which will cause slacking or disintegration, the engineer says. Soundness of the tile can be determined by placing a dry specimen on end and striking with a light hammer; a clear ring indicates sound tile. Also inspect the tile for uniformity in shape, wall thickness, checks, and cracks. Karstens suggests, and as further precaution purchase tile which has met the strength and density specifications of the American Society for Testing Materials.

There are no records to indicate the useful life of drain tile, but concrete tile, according to available information, will last as long as clay or shale tile except in peat or muck soils, or in soils containing strong alkali salts. For the most part, however, soils in Indiana do not have a concentration of alkali salts great enough to materially affect concrete.

Contrary to popular belief, ground water should enter the tile at the joints and it will not seep through the side walls in any appreciable quantity. Good quality tile should be dense and absorb a minimum amount of water.

Tile should not be stored on the surface of the ground during the winter, the agricultural engineer warns, because it will absorb moisture from the ground and crumble or weaken after being subjected to freezing temperatures. Instead of storing on the ground, stack the tile on planks, or for better protection, store inside a building.

ROME ALERT FOR UPRISING BY RED MOBS

ROME, Nov. 14.—(UP)—Tanks and flying squads of police stood guard today against any Communist attempt to infect Rome with the rioting and violence that had spread over at least 17 Italian cities.

Tacitly recognizing the Communist riots as a campaign to overthrow it, the moderate government ordered five tanks into Piazza Del Popolo, the favorite demonstrating ground of the Communists in Rome. More were available if needed.

Flying squads of police waited at every major square, around government buildings and at main street corners. Army tanks were put at the disposal of the police in Milan, where on Wednesday the Communists had rioted for hours, sacked a newspaper plant and attacked a police headquarters.

Troops guarded municipal buildings in Naples. There the Communists tried yesterday to break into city hall and raise the flag over the building. More troops were sent to Turin, another storm center. These places, along with Como, Genoa, Caserta and Bari were the main trouble centers, although the Communists had rioted in at least 17 places. An ammunition dump blew up yesterday at Tesorella, 20 miles east of Milan, killing six persons and injuring at least 20. Police said a preliminary investigation had not turned up any sign of sabotage.

MARSEILLE, Nov. 14.—(UP)—Shooting broke out again in jittery Marseille today, just before the Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor met to decide whether to order a general strike.

The headquarters of the Communist party was fired upon while Communist bigwigs were holding a meeting. No one was wounded and the army and police started an immediate investigation to find out who did the shooting.

Strikes spread to the textile and gas workers' unions. Security police rushed to the suburb of St. Antoine, where transport strikers tried to hold up a streetcar.

It was reported unofficially that the government might order troops to unload food ships that have been tied up in Marseille harbor since yesterday. The trouble all stemmed from the Communist invasion of city hall Wednesday.

Marseille, France's largest port, has been paralyzed since yesterday. The General Confederation of Labor had a meeting of unions scheduled for this afternoon to vote on a general strike.

If the Communists want a general strike, they can have one because they control the confederation and its unions. Some 15,000 workers in six categories jumped the gun yesterday, stalling public services, shipping and transport.

Troops and police swarmed over Marseille to prevent a recurrence of Wednesday's rioting, in which Communists invaded the city hall, killed one man and injured 18, including the De Gaulle mayor.

Troops and police were ordered to prevent any assembly, although this presumably did not include the confederation's strike meeting. Unrest in Marseille mounted steadily.

Premier Paul Ramadier, laying the full blame for the trouble upon the Communists in the assembly in Paris yesterday, said measures were being taken to maintain order in Marseille, but he could not be certain they would be effective. He promised that those responsible would be punished. "I know that the manifestation was provoked by a political organization which you know well (Communists)," Ramadier said. "I know that the attacks against the city hall and palace of justice were carried out by a party which was against the public."

FBI FOLLOWS TESTIMONY OF AAF GENERAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(UP)—The Justice Department, it was learned today, is following closely the unfolding story of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers' stock at a time when he was buying warplanes for the government.

The department has obtained Meyers' personnel records from the Air Forces, it was said. An official department observer has been assigned to follow developments at a Senate War Investigating Subcommittee hearing on the purchasing practices of the Air Forces.

Subcommittee Chairman Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., pointed out yesterday that it is a criminal offense for anyone holding an interest in a corporation doing business with the government to represent the government "as an officer or agent" in dealings with such companies.

This federal statute, said Ferguson, carries a maximum penalty of two years' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000 for each offense.

Ferguson did not accuse Meyers, a retired major general, of violating the statute. He merely quoted from the statute before asking a committee investigator to read a list of Meyers' stock holdings.

Meyers has not yet presented his side of the case to Senate investigators. Legal authorities said that even if the testimony about his alleged stock dealings prove true, there is some question whether the government can take any action because of the three-year statute of limitations.

Senate Committee Investigator Carmine S. Bellino testified that in February, 1943, Meyers told a superior officer who questioned him the only stocks he had in any way related to the aviation business were 200 shares of General Electric.

Actually, according to Bellino, Meyers' brokerage records showed that he owned 2,700 shares of aviation stock valued at $39,550. The investigator testified that nine days after he was questioned by his superior officer, Meyers deeded the stocks to his wife.

At that time, Meyers was deputy assistant chief of air staff, in charge of all aircraft procurement, production and supply. An anonymous letter, written to the FBI in June, 1945 and made public yesterday, accused Meyers of having made anywhere from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 through stock investments in aircraft firms which he knew were about to get lucrative war contracts.

The largest single holding which Meyers had in 1943, according to Bellino, was 1,000 shares of Bell Aircraft Corp., stock valued at $13,625. Lawrence D. Bell, president of the company, was scheduled to appear before the subcommittee today.

Bellino said brokerage records showed that Meyers also held stock in Boeing, 100 shares; Lockheed, 200 shares; Glenn L. Martin, 100 shares; North American Aviation, 800 shares; Republic Aviation, 400 shares; United, 100 shares.

The anonymous letter charged that "it has been his (Meyers') practice, as soon as he was in possession of the bids for review, to buy stock in the particular company prior to the release of the bid."

she did not look sick. She admitted that she now weighs 110 pounds, which is heavier than she was.

Looking highly pleased, she said she was still getting "lots" of mail, including marriage proposals. The most recent marriage proposal came from Brooklyn and she quoted from it:

"I am very lonesome and have a big home. Won't you come marry me and help me to take care of this house."

There are 42 witnesses yet to testify. Her attorney, Rene Castellanos, said he expected American character witnesses who had gone back to Chicago during the last recess to return.

He was confident that the prosecution would modify the murder charge against her after presentation of prosecution and defense briefs. The trial is being heard by three judges—no jury—and under Cuban law either the judges or prosecution may decide upon a modification of the charge.

Castellanos said he believed the charge would be reduced to discharge of a firearm—the .22 caliber pistol which fatally wounded Mee on April 8—for which the penalty is six to eight years.

The penalty for murder is 20 to 30 years.

Newark's Navy Has 2 Setbacks

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 14.—(UP)—Newark's grim little navy suffered two major reverses today as the hour drew near for the "battle of Newark bay."

1. The coast guard entered the fray with three ships on the side of the battleship New Mexico, en route to the scrap heap. 2. Admiral William "Bull" Halsey refused to come to the defense of Newark.

The lines were drawn at Newark Channel, where Mayor Vincent J. Murphy has ordered that "They shall not pass." He said he wanted no part of having the old dreadnought cut up into scrap in his harbor. He called the ship an "eyesore" and ordered fireboats to keep it out with streams of water from firehoses if necessary.

The Newark fleet, consisting of two 35-foot fireboats, was definitely the underdog. The invasion fleet—three coast guard ships and nine harbor tugs towing the 33,000-ton New Mexico, was the favorite.

Admiral Halsey, of Pacific war fame, who grew up in Elizabeth, N. J., refused to be drawn into the argument. When asked by a Newark friend how best to block the channel and prevent the old battleship from entering the harbor, he replied:

"I can't help on strategy. I don't know a damn thing about patrolling channels. Let your own admirals work out their own blockade."

Bicycles vs. Automobiles

You read about auto advertisements in your daily papers; you hear them over the radio, from your friendly dealer, also from your gas station man.

But did it ever occur to you that your boy's or girl's bicycle needs a check-up at least once a year. Autos have 60 or more horse power, but the bicycle does not have over one man power. I can overhaul your old bicycle and make it run about 50 per cent easier. I do all kinds of bicycle repairing and have parts and tires for all makes. I put on solid rubber tires for baby buggies, wagons, etc.

Come over and see me sometime about anything in the bicycle line.

Have a lot of bicycles like you never saw before.

Jonathan Swift, greatest of English satirists, was born in Dublin, in 1667. At 15 he was sent to Trinity college in Dublin, where he read much poetry, but was disdainful of his courses and of regulations, and received his degree only by special grace.

Woodcuts in various forms were used to print or stamp in remotest antiquity. By the Babylonians and Egyptians they were used to indent bricks; by the Romans to print letters and grotesques.
